Divinia Dispatch - October 2026

Thank you for joining me for the latest Divinia Dispatch. This newsletter is my way of bringing you closer to the world of Divinia – with early short stories, exclusive updates, and a behind-the-scenes look at how the books are made. I'm excited to share more with you each month as this world continues to grow.

Entry 2 - Lyra Drakeforge (and friends) Explore Divinia

The latest entry of Lyra Drakeforce (and friends) Explore Divinia - the light-hearted fantasy codex - is available now.

This month Lyra talks about life in Ferroxia and shares her opinions on what it's really like after travelling to several of the major cities at the conclusion of the Celestial Trials.

Please note that this includes light spoilers for the first three chapters of The Fight for Divinia, but has been deliberately written so that it can enjoyed without revealing too much. However, if you would like to read book two completely spoiler free then please avoid this for now.

As a subscriber, you are receiving this story 24 hours early. It will be released on my website on Wednesday 28 October.

Social Media Update

I am currently working with Cameron Publicity and Marketing ahead of the release of my next book. With their support, I am trialling some new approaches on my Instagram account (recently renamed @glen_harrington_divinia), including more video-based content and AI-generated imagery.

I would love to hear your feedback on these posts so I can continue creating more of the content you enjoy.

I also want to address my use of AI, which I recognise is a sensitive and topical issue. As an indie author, AI offers me an opportunity to create engaging promotional content that might otherwise be difficult or costly to produce, helping me reach new readers and bring the world of Divinia to life.

However, I want to be clear about my commitment: I will never use AI-generated creative work in any products I sell. My book covers, audiobooks and other commissioned creative assets will continue to be produced by talented artists, designers and narrators who are paid for their work.

I firmly believe in supporting the creative community, and my use of AI for promotional purposes will not change that.

Fight for Divinia

I am pleased to announce that book 2 - The Fight for Divinia - is now ready and tentatively scheduled for release on 25 November 2026.

Here is the finalised blurb:

The Trials are over. The fight for Divinia has begun.

Talon Drakeforge returned to Ferroxia a champion. He expected questions. He didn't expect to be treated as an enemy.

Thoros may have fled Concordia, but his war is far from over. As the seven regions fracture and old loyalties harden, the exiled god of fire turns his attention to the forgotten borderlands, searching for an ancient power that could change Divinia forever.

To stop him, Talon must do what no champion before him has been asked to do: unite a world built upon rivalry.

With Lyra, Bren, Kaida, Cairn and Selene beside him, Talon crosses hostile lands in search of allies. But powerful enemies would rather see him silenced, the gods themselves remain divided, and long-buried secrets threaten everything Divinia believes about its past.

As Thoros draws closer to his goal, Talon and his friends will discover that winning the Celestial Trials was only the beginning.

Now gods, champions and ordinary people alike must decide what they are willing to fight for.

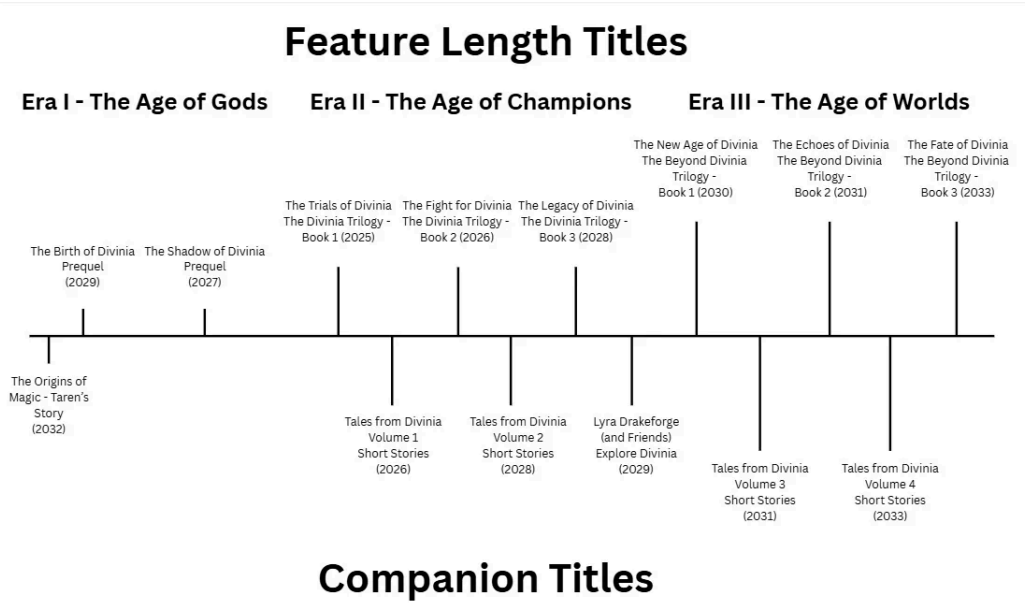

Because this time, it isn't victory at stake.

It's Divinia itself.

This is the second of eight planned feature length titles and the third entry in the Chronicles of Divinia overall. A full planned timeline for the series can be seen below.

Work has now commenced on The Shadow of Divinia ahead of its release next year.
